“The ICD/Rotman School Directors Education Program is an integral part of a director's continuing education. The curriculum is relevant, current and well structured. The instructors are expert, enthusiastic and highly committed to the success of the participants and the program. Most importantly, the participants are open, diverse, curious and capable.”

“Preserving investor confidence is paramount to the integrity of our securities markets. The Directors Education Program through its many teaching and learning styles allows new and experienced directors to share their knowledge of timely issues. I highly recommend this course for all current and future directors.”
